

Honest Injun!

Savage Tires — as honest as the proverbial honest Indian. From the first to the last mile of service you know that you are getting more than full value for the reasonable price you paid.

1000 miles to the good at the start, because of our guarantee mileage allowance.

And at the finish, more than likely from 1000 to 10,000 miles better off than you would have been with the tires you formerly used.

Honest materials and manufacture, honest prices, honest service.

Swiss Cowbells.

It is the custom of Swiss mountaineers to hang bells on the necks of their cows, and so accustomed to these bells that the animals become to these bells that the deprivation of them is felt as a punishment. If any cow has been guilty of straying or unsightly behavior, a bunch of discipline or any vicious trick the displeasure of the herdsman is not testified by blows, but by temporary deprivation of her bell, and this seldom fails to reduce her to order and to prevent a repetition of the offense.

Icebergs and Echoes.

Icebergs are always a source of worry to the transatlantic steamship skippers. It isn't pleasant to run along through a fog or a murky night and smash into one of these floating mountains of ice. The liner captains have a way of finding ice that at first strikes the landman as curious. When it is suspected there are bergs in the neighborhood the whistle is kept going. If there is an echo the navigator slows down and keeps a sharp eye out, for echoes don't grow in the open ocean.

KERBY

Miss Katherine Maurer, of Kerby, and Harold Caldwell, of South Bend, Wash., were joined in wedlock at South Bend on Monday, October 16, 1916. The many friends of the bride living in Kerby wish her many happy years of wedded life.

The grammar grades of the Kerby school, Miss Hague, teacher, gave a public program on Wednesday, after sending out invitations to parents and friends. Thirty-five people responded to the invitations, among them County Superintendent Lincoln Savage. The program was pronounced very satisfactory by those who attended.

Patrons should not wait for invitations to visit the school. The doors are always open, and parents are welcome visitors at all times.

The Sunday school was reorganized for the winter at a meeting on Sunday, the 22nd. The "Suggested Course of Bible Study," by State Superintendent J. A. Churchill, will be taken up by the adult members of the school.

Miss Ellene Lewis was absent from school on Wednesday on account of sickness.

A good deal of anxiety and some alarm was awakened in Kerby the first of the week by a report that Miss Ethel Woodcock, who left Kerby some weeks ago to teach in Washington, some twenty miles from Portland, had disappeared and no one knew her whereabouts. Upon investigation by her parents, it was learned that some two weeks since Miss Woodcock went to consult a physician in Portland concerning a throat trouble, and was found in a hospital, where she had undergone an operation. At last report it was thought she would be able to resume her duties in the school room next Monday, the 29th, after an absence of three weeks.

To the Voters of Josephine County:

The platform upon which I solicit your vote on November 7th for the office of representative from this county is the same as that upon which I sought the republican nomination. It is the platform of economy in state expenditures, for it is through economy in legislative appropriations that we can hope for reduced tax levies. As an owner of and taxpayer upon both country and town property within the county I can appreciate the burden that has been placed upon the tax-paying public, and pledge myself to support measures that are aimed toward a more economical administration of the affairs of the state of Oregon.

A residence of 21 years in Josephine county, and a familiarity with its business conditions during all of that time, places me in a position to know the needs of the various interests, of the miner, the lumberman, the farmer and the fruitgrower, the fisherman and the business man, and my first interest as a legislator will be to faithfully represent their interests and to serve them to the best of my ability.

I have no great legislative reforms to advance, but stand for economy, for fewer laws, and a consolidation of boards and commissions.
